I thought 'Joker's Wild' was still in syndication then? I must be wrong, because I certainly think it would've been cleared in Nashville or Bowling Green if it was.

These listings only show the network and PBS stations, not independents. 'Joker' was definitely running in syndication at that point(it lasted til 1986).

I lived in Bowling Green on this date. There were no independent TV stations there then.

Strange to see "Match Game" at 4 on 2. This was the time between the end of the network version (April 20) and the syndicated version(September 10).

You'll notice that KNXT aired the soap Love of Life at 2:30pm after Guiding Light. The network, however, put the show at 4pm/3pm CT/PT where many stations dropped it. I don't understand why it didn't air at 3:30/2:30pm following Guiding Light on CBS's schedule, but instead M*A*S*H was given that timeslot. East Coast CBS owned stations aired Love of Life at Noon instead of 4pm as they usually did with the network's 4pm offerings since they didn't air local news.

Since I posted the June 1990 listings for the Philadelphia indies, I figured I'd post the Philadelphia network stations as well.

WCAU at this time was a CBS owned/operated station. CBS owned stations never had morning news until the mid-90s. I remember in Chicago, all at once WBBM started a hour or 90 minute newscast just like that because they were already way behind on morning news from the ABC and NBC stations...

2:00 12 O'Clock High

This brings back memories! I was a master control operator at WHLL during the early 1990's, although I did have a 6 month hiatus around this time which may explain some discrepancies. On Saturday nights, I always recall Showtime At The Apollo airing at 11pm and CNN Headline News airing at 1:00am. Looks like they snuck in an "infomercial" at 11:30 so maybe they tweaked the schedule (very common). But at least they kept 12 O'Clock High" at 12 O'Clock AM!

Kind of odd that 10 and 12 from Providence were included, but not 6!

The Independents in the market at that time seem to have been pretty well programmed.

What day did WCW Wrestling air in this area?

WCIA (which also serves Springfield, IL) had about a 4-year stretch (IIRC from about fall 1975-spring 1979, based on old TV schedules in my local paper) where "The Price Is Right" was bumped in favor of Donahue at 9AM, then they were still committed to showing midday movies at 3PM (a practice they continued until 1983). So TPIR couldn't air in the afternoon. "Price" finally returned to mid-Illinois around fall 1979.

WCIA's then-Midwest Television (now part of Nexstar) sister station WMBD-31 in Peoria also had a brief time during the '75-76 season where TPIR was bumped after the show expanded to an hour in November '75 (WMBD was already committed to airing "Dinah!" at 9AM). But "Price" played again in Peoria by fall 1976 and hasn't been interrupted locally since (other than Labor Day episodes due to the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon, plus the annual Peoria Santa Claus Parade the day after Thanksgiving annually).

A pretty good time in TV. Rockford Files, Barnaby Jones. I do believe that Rockford moved to the Friday 10PM slot later in its run.

CBS was the only run airing its usual series during this sweeps month day.

ABC had MNF and NBC had a movie. Interesting.

Rush Limbaugh's syndicated TV show had just started a few weeks before. Despite getting timeslots like the 1AM one in this market, he did all right with the show for four years.

The move from the Saturday 10PM slot sort of sealed the fate of 'Hunter'. After some successful Made for TV movies featuring Fred Dryer as Rick Hunter, a reboot was tried in 2003, but it didn't gain traction.

No channel 50 or 54?

It came from the Gettysburg paper, so they may not have included all of the stations.

Regarding the Lakers-Nuggets game: I looked it up, and as I suspected, that was part of the West finals (Game 1, actually), back during the era when the whole season was usually done by Memorial Day or thereabouts.

Star Search, Hee Haw, Hunter, Mike Hammer, Airwolf, the Tigers in a nationally televised game!

Man, this was a great day to be watching TV!

No listing for channel 62?

Out of market paper, he posted what was in that paper. Augmentation is welcome if you have a source.

The Royals won the World Series in 1985. I'm sure Royals broadcasts became a big deal as the season went on.

St. Joseph at this time was basically a sub-market of KC (with separate ABC but had the rest of KC's stations; today, I think they only get PBS and TBN from KC)

Wasn't the Yankees-Royals game delayed by rain? if so, then the NBC stations carried the Pirates-Dodgers game until play started in KC.

As far as Solid Gold, it was likely bumped in some markets if it was an NBC station by the Pirates-Dodgers game as it went 12 innings, and lasted 3 hours and 49 minutes.

It looks like KQTV and WIBW aired different episodes of Solid Gold at the same time.

Also, Saturday Night's Main Event was programming from the then-WWF that aired instead of SNL repeats.

I used to watch Saturday Night's Main Event a lot back then. But there was one time when SNME and American Gladiators were on at the same time. SNME on WYFF/4 Greenville at 11:30 and AG on WLOS/13 Asheville at midnight. I went with AG, because i wasn't a big fan of the WWF at that time.

Either "Weekend Travel Update" or "Travel, Travel." Both were pretty low-rent syndicated programs around the same time.

I'm taking this was a "brokered" local talk show.

This was typical for large- and medium-sized markets with three independent stations (note that FOX stations were--and still are, in a way--programmed as an independent). There was enough good product to go around to two stations, leaving one to grab the "leftover" shows or air lots of infomercials. KSTW and KCPQ had the clout to get the A- and B-programs. However, I might say that KUTP in Phoenix (the #3 independent at the time) was able to buy a few B-grade programs in its pre-UPN days. KTZZ seems like it was a step up from WVEU-Atlanta, WGPR-Detroit, WDJT-Milwaukee, and KFBT-Las Vegas, but at about the same level as KTTY-San Diego.

I think I'm going to say "Travel, Travel". Weekend Travel Update I've only seen on the weekend, in TV listings from that time.

WGPR was horrible before CBS. A few bartered programs, and mainly infomercials and religious programs. I've heard horrible stories about WDJT at that time as well.

Marjorie Clapprood was a talk and radio show host. She had a talk show on Lifetime right around this time. I just transferred my Days and Nights of Molly Dodd from vhs to dvd, and there are ads for Clapprood in the 1991 episodes.

Nope - not at this time. KSTW, and later, KCPQ, would clear Full House.

Looking at the stations schedules, 21 had a TON of reruns, including Andy Griffith. Andy Griffith and St. Elsewhere on at the same time is interesting, given that Andy Griffith would appeal to the folks in my area. and 7 had courtroom shows in the late afternoon after Guiding Light. That was the case until Jokers Wild came back in 1990.

How long did NBC do the movies oppsite MNF?

From the 1970-71 season (when Monday Night Football premiered)to the 1996-97 season. This run of NBC Monday Night At The Movies actually premiered in Fall 1968.

700 Club at 7 AM on KXTX??? Unusual - Usually that aired live at 10 AM eastern, 9 AM Central - CBN stations had cartoons in the 7 to 9 AM slot - I vaguely remember though CBN experimented in VA Beach in the SUMMER of 79 and moved religion to 7 AM and a movie late morning and that fall reinstaed cartoons. I guess KXTX did that as well.

Would love to have a schedule from November of 1979 from this market - By then three independent stations in Oklahoma City signed on - maybe one from 1981 - by then Tulsa had 2 indies sign on - When you can - Thanks - if you can

Was this a nightly program or a one-time special?

Probably a weekly program, since most stations were running different shows at 6:30 each night at the time; the practice of "stripping" didn't really become the norm until about 1980 or '81. In fact, I was surprised to see KOCO not carrying "Tic Tac Dough" at 6:30 because I know they eventually did.

Also, I have in the past posted schedules from the 1980 TV Guide Fall Preview issue, and will get up some from the '81 Fall Preview issue.

A disclaimer here: Many of the programs listed as airing on KSWO, KAUZ and KFDX during the afternoon and evening hours of April 10 likely never made it to air. April 10, 1979 was the date of the infamous Red River Valley tornado outbreak https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/1979_Red_River_Valley_tornado_outbreak (known to Texoma residents as "Terrible Tuesday"), which produced tornadoes that hit Lawton and Wichita Falls (the former was an F3 that struck the southern part of Lawton, while the latter was an F4 that killed about 40 people in Wichita Falls -- most of whom died while, ironically, crossing paths with the tornado in their cars while trying to escape from neighborhoods they believed would be in its path). KFDX and KAUZ apparently were knocked off the air during their 6:00 p.m. newscasts that night when the Wichita Falls F4 tornado cut power to their transmitters; presumably, KSWO stayed on the air, since its transmitter was based near Grandfield, Oklahoma.

Disclaimer: Many of the programs listed as airing on KFOR, KOKH, KOCO and KWTW on May 4 were pre-empted due to extended severe weather coverage. The stations ran wall-to-wall coverage of the aftermath of the 1999 Oklahoma tornado outbreak (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/1999_Oklahoma_tornado_outbreak), which produced 66 twisters across Oklahoma and southern Kansas on May 3; the most notable was the destructive F5 that hit tracked from Amber to Midwest City, and devastated much of the city of Moore, killing 36 along its path (44 people died in the outbreak overall) and caused $1.1 billion in damage. Coverage of the outbreak event, which aired virtually non-stop from the time the first tornadoes touched down in southwestern Oklahoma around 4:00 p.m. on May 3, continued to air on the aforementioned OKC stations until about 7:00 p.m. on May 4.

The short live 'Judge Mills Lane' show starring the famous boxing referee was airing at this time.

I guess no Edge of Night for Minneapolis at 3pm on KSTP or otherwise.

There wasn't any "CBS Overnight News" in 1979; "CBS News Nightwatch" was nearly 3 years away at this point, premiering in October of 1982.

Also, the Iran Hostage Crisis was taking place at the time, so any ABC late programming would be delayed by 15 minutes for the latest on the crisis. That day, 13 of them-mostly women-came home. The others would not be released until President Reagan came to power in '81.

Was INTV a network?

I'm guessing "INTV" just means it's an independent station; Looks like a pretty typical indie lineup from the period.

From the date of this listing, it had been more than eight months since the three-way network swap between Channels 5 (NBC to ABC), 9 (ABC to independent), and 11 (independent to NBC). You'll notice too that 9 was also clearing CBS' late night lineup since WCCO elected to go with its own late night programming.

A few clarifications, if I may....

Channel 4 did offer all-night news, of sorts: it was a series of computer graphics with their FM-sister station playing in the background. You can see it here at the end of this recording:

<https://tcmedianow.com/wcco-tv-10pm-...-tom-hanneman/>

The Tribune's TV grid had the four network logos over the station call letters/channel position. For Channel 9, someone made up the INTV logo. They were an independent station.

Channel 9's late night programming wasn't from CBS at this point. The programs listed were in syndication, but KMSP ran an altered schedule that was similar to the CBS Late night movie. KMSP did run the CBS Late Night Movie during its waning days as an ABC affiliate (because when you feel snubbed, you do things like that, I guess). I have seen listings where they kept running the CBS Late Night Movie through the spring and summer of '79.

Finally, "Edge of Night" was never cleared by KSTP since KMSP had not cleared it before the March of '79 affiliate swap.

This was the day Whew! premiered at 10:30 ET on CBS and The Price Is Right moved to 11 AM ET, where it's been ever since. Love Of Life got displaced to 4 PM ET. The listings here don't reflect this.

It looks like the paper wasn't constantly updated. I'll post another schedule from May 1979 where Whew! is listed.

Yes, the newspapers were a bit behind on things like that. Ours (the Atlanta Journal) was a week behind on a change that took place here in 1975.

Less than a month and a half later (on 6/1/79), WRTV and WTHR swapped networks.

I'm surprised that WTTV didn't have a stronger prime time lineup. Jokers Wild aired at 7PM or thereabouts in most other markets.

From the late 1960s continuing into the early 1980s, game shows in prime time were a staple at WTTV. They were also the Indpls affiliate for Merv Griffin airing at 9p weeknights. (Obvious exception is the Griffin CBS years when WTTV aired David Frost at 9p.) In March 1978, Griffin moved to afternoons at WRTV/6. In August 1982, WTTV/4 dropped the games for a nightly prime time movie.

(Source: Columbus Republic at newspapers.com)

I had a TV Guide from 1979, that showed WISH-TV airing Love of Life at 3:30pm and bumping One Day at a Time reruns to 4pm. This schedule would have made more sense by CBS nationally. Even their owned stations chose to air Love of Life at Noon ET or 2:30pm CT after Guiding Light.

Since this was the first day of Whew! and with that TBA at 3:30, I'm thinking Match Game ran on a one-day (or more) delay at 9:00 to pair it with another game show (reruns of Narz's Concentration) instead of at 4:00. With Love of Life moving to 4:00 nationally, perhaps WISH had to wait a day to put that show on a one-day delay at 3:30, and, hence, the TBA at 3:30.

As I recall, CBS's Flip! (11:30 AM, ch. 6) got jettisoned five weeks into the new season and was replaced with repeats of Teen Wolf. ABC's Beany & Cecil reboot (8 AM) and NBC's 2 Hip 4 TV (12 Noon) suffered similar fates.

Was this during the start of KOCR's "whatever they can get at the video store" stage, or didn't that come until later?

By the looks of things, KOCR had a solid schedule -- hard to realise that a year later, they would go down in flames.

Also, does Burlington's KJMH ch.26 have a story? A few years later, they would become a satellite of the Quad Cities' KLJB. <P ID="edit">Edited by rugrats1 on 11/03/05 02:46 AM.</P>

I can't answer your questions. This is an edition I picked up on vacation. Sorry.

KJMH lost its Fox affiliation at some point later on and was an independent. I used to get the Western Illinois Edition of TV Guide, which also carried listings for KJMH. The station just disappeared in TV Guide sometime after the Fox affiliation was gone. I never knew if the station went dark or if TV Guide just dropped them. Sometime later, the station was purchased by the company that owns Channel 18 in the Quad Cities. I believe 18 was simulcast on 26 for a time, and then 26 became a WB affiliate at some point.

I've always wondered this about KJMH (pre-KLJB repeater days)--had it not been for first-adjacent WQEC-27 (PBS) in Quincy, and if KJMH had the financial backing to upgrade/move to a different channel, could a case had been made to turn KJMH into a drop-in, de facto Fox affiliate for the Quincy/Hannibal market (with a tower either in Lee County, IA or northern Hancock County, IL)? This is despite the fiasco of the ill-fated KTVO-3 effort to enter the Quincy market with its 2000-ft. tower (which collapsed June 2, 1988). Sometimes I have wondered if that could have been part of the intention of channel 26's owners of having two Fox affiliates in the Quad Cities market (even though KLJB-18 briefly lost its Fox affiliation during 1988-90).

Re: Retro: Iowa-Tuesday, 9/21/93

Where's all that horrible programming that KOCR aired? I thought at this time, not only were they renting VHS tapes for broadcast - illegally; but they also aired many programs with "off-key" commercial breaks (I thought one guy said "Crazy Like a Fox" aired on KOCR in July one year with December holiday ads in it). They also had absolutely no ads on air - maybe one advertiser, and promos. Today's Fox on 28 in Cedar Rapids is a heck of a lot better!

Re: Retro: Iowa-Tuesday, 9/21/93

KJMH's problem is that it really didn't cover anything but Burlington (it was on the KGRS tower), and there just wasn't enough population to make it viable. Before the move to Aledo, there was an LPTV in the Quad Cities on 26.

KJMH definitely would have needed to change channels to make a move to Quincy. There were vacant noncommercial allotments in Ft. Madison and Keokuk which might have been possibilities for a channel swap. I heard secondhand that KTVQ had made an offer on the station in the early 90's.

Re: Retro: Iowa-Tuesday, 9/21/93

No Jeopardy in Des Moines in Sept. 1993? ??? Although wasn't there a period (before this schedule) that J! and WOF aired on two separate Central Iowa stations--J! on KCCI and WOF on WHO (or vice-versa)? I recall seeing old Des Moines schedules from 1990 in which this practice occurred.

Re: Retro: Iowa-Tuesday, 9/21/93

My recollection is that in the late 80's Jeopardy was on WOI at an early slot (maybe 4:30) and Wheel aired on KCCI at 6:30. This would have been back when WOI ran local news at 5 and M*A*S*H at 6. I think Wheel may have aired on WHO earlier in the decade.

Any listings for PBS?

That would have been rather interesting if KTVO's offer on KJMH had been successful (at that time KTVO had been a few years removed from their 2000 ft. tower collapse), the channel moved from 26 to one of the vacant Ft. Madison/Keokuk allotments (or even a new station), and became a repeater for primarily the Illinois side of the Quincy/Hannibal market. A new tower could have been built in ground conductivity-rich Hancock County, IL (between Carthage and Dallas City), and would have filled most of the then-ABC white area in western Illinois particularly in an area bordered roughly by Quincy/Macomb/Pittsfield/Beardstown/Jacksonville (which at the time lacked Grade B-level reception of ABC alternatives such former affiliate WAND Decatur, KTVO, WHOI Peoria, KTVI/KDNL St. Louis, and WQAD Moline).

In fact, there were some cable systems in parts of Adams, Brown, and Pike counties in Illinois that were only able to rely on national ABC feeds pre-KHQA 7.2 (including WKRN Nashville and WABC). And although not listed in this edition (but is receptive from Burlington southward), Quincy NBC affiliate WGEM-10 was still carrying "All My Children" on a three-hour tape delay during Sept. 1993.

Re: Retro: Iowa-Tuesday, 9/21/93

Given the costs of building new transmitting facilities and getting the channel moved, I suspect even free as a price for KJMH may have been too much. Certainly more value as a potential move-in for the Quad Cities.

When you start looking at the small market stations that signed on in the 50's and 60's that served very rural areas, KTVO really was fortunate. Being on VHF certainly played a large part of it. I doubt if they had signed on as a UHF station in 1955, they would have survived as a stand alone station. Chances are, they would have either been a repeater for a station in a nearby market or gone dark and been forgotten (like WJJY).

Since they recently opened up free online access to the Cedar Rapids Gazette archives, I've been diving deep into the KOCR saga and yes at that time, the schedule was pretty solid when it came to the first run barter shows they had, especially with kids shows. They had two main problems that were connected to each other. 1. they were undercapitalized. When the station was finally sold, the owner said that he just didn't have the money to run the station the way it needed to be run. That leads to 2. the inferior signal. While the other stations had full market coverage from 1500 to 2000 foot towers, they were operating off of a 500 foot tower at less than the authorized power. When the new owners took over, they broadcast at the max power they were licensed for at the time until they built a 1500 foot tower at 5,000 kw of power a year later.

What about cable? Was KJMH carried on cable systems throughout the Quad Cities area?

According to Wikipedia:

The station signed-on January 6, 1988 as KJMH. It aired an analog signal on UHF channel 26 with an effective radiated power of 200 kilowatts (at a height of 96 meters (315 ft)) from a tower on Winegard Drive in Burlington. KJMH quickly became a Fox affiliate, primarily serving the southern portion of the Quad Cities market. However, the station suffered interference and duplication from the area's other Fox affiliate, KLJB in Davenport serving the northern portions of the area. Finally in 1996, this station became a full-time satellite of KLJB. In 2001, KJMH broke off and became a WB affiliate for the Quad Cities and adopted the KGWB-TV call sign.

Because of this, there was no reason for Quad Cities area cable systems to pick the station up until they became a WB affiliate.

A rough time for ABC. It dumped a lot of longtime favorites, 'Fantasy Island' and 'Three's Company' among them. Most of the new shows were gone after one season amid greatly declining ratings. 'Three's a Crowd', the replacement for 'Three's Company' which aired this date, only lasted a single season. I thought it should've done better. The lead actress, Mary Cadorette, was very pretty and played well off of John Ritter, but it wasn't meant to be, I guess. ABC's poor performance during this time led to its being taken over by Capital Cities shortly thereafter.

As always, an interesting post, south ferretti!

ABC did rebound in the late 80s, with shows like China Beach, the TGIF shows, The Wonder Years, Roseanne, and a few other shows. In fact, two of my favorite shows, China Beach and Matlock were on the same night.

05 Good Day!

The 'Morning' Stretch' show endured for almost 20 years.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Joanie_Greggains

'Rockford Files' must have been carrying a unique syndication title at this time since it's listed as "Jim Rockford: Private Investigator". Unsure why this was as the show had already ended its run on NBC. I know when Happy Days first went into syndication, it ran as "Happy Days Again" in order to avoid confusion with new episodes.

The 4PM movie was still around at this time, but I don't think for much longer.

35 ABC Friday Night Movie

'The Bible...In the Beginning.' (1966) John Huston directs this survey course of the Old Testament, which, the title notwithstanding, covers only the first 22 chapters of Genesis. Adam (Michael Parks) and Eve (Ulla Bergryd) frolic in the Garden of Eden until their indulgence in the forbidden fruit sees them driven out. Cain (Richard Harris) murders his brother Abel (Franco Nero), Noah (John Huston) builds an ark to preserve the animals of the world from the coming flood and Abraham (George C. Scott) makes a covenant with God.

Pretty sleepy summer schedule. ABC apparently was running AFV on Monday's. Surprised that WB in OKC was airing Judge Judy in Prime Time.

I remember back then KOCO 5 was adamant about their hourlong noon newscast and wouldn't show Loving, The City, or Port Charles in daytime at 12:30pm. Now, today in 2017, they don't even have a midday newscast...

WXGA/channel 8 being an Albany station is a bit of a reach. Its city of license is Waycross, just a stone's throw from Jacksonville.

Yes, you're right. I don't know why I wrote Albany there.

The Albany market does have one other PBS outlet. WACS/Channel 25 in Americus (Dawson city of license). Like WXGA and WABW, it's part of the statewide GPTV network.

To add to my initial post in this thread, this video from the Radio-Canada Archives from that very date, featuring then-prime minister Pierre Trudeau:

...this wasn't The Weekend Tonight Show; Weeekend was Lloyd Dobyns' once-a-month newsmagazine which ran after the late news on either Saturday or Sunday nights, depending on which NBC affiliate was in question. It started running in this time slot on 20 October 1974...

NBC dropped 'Weekend' in 1979, although it continued to skip 'SNL' one weekend a month, on occasion, for years thereafter(in the '70s, it was either for sports events, or for comedy specials that were meant to appeal to the 'SNL' audience; in the '80s and early '90s, it was wrestling shows).

It just occurred to me I actually have one of those instances in my tape collection - some WWF (later WWE) wrestling from January 1989. Incomplete however.

8:00: Howard Cosell Show

Which was also known as "Saturday Night Live" (albeit "Saturday Night Live with Howard Cosell") during its ill-fated run. Hence why the more well-known SNL which debuted the following Saturday went by "NBC's Saturday Night" or just "Saturday Night" during its first season or so.

I was at first surprised to see Price is Right on in the afternoon as a half hour show. Then I realized this was during that very short-lived "New Price is Right" with Doug Davidson. Also, I think that unknown channel is WLIW.

Not a lot of changes on Friday's from the prior year. ABC was doing well with its TGIF block still.

That is really an unusual and eclectic combination of offerings. Instead of offering Buffalo's WBBZ and WNYO, etc, they offer CBLT which has virtually nothing to offer and CFTO which duplicates much U.S. programming because Canada has so few options of it's own. With Erie only 35 miles away, surprised they didn't carry more programming.

If any Erie station would be listed, I was expecting either WICU (the only analog-era VHF station) or WQLN (their PBS member)

Surprised 'Matt Houston' was apparently syndicated. Being a one hour drama and having less than 100 episodes generally meant this didn't happen, but there it is airing on WXXA.

No listings for WUSV Channel 45, which was actually based in Schenectady?

Maybe they waited a couple of years to include it.

On the other hand, considering that WUSV would soon transition into PBS affiliate WMHX, maybe the paper decided not to list it.

The tail end of the truly independent station. The following year, most of those remaining would affiliate with either UPN or WB.

I wasn't familiar with 'All News AM'. It appears to have been a syndicated product that lasted at least a few years. I couldn't find anything out about the program itself, but did see listings for it stretching back to at least 1992.

Did Suzanne Pleshette really do a self-titled sitcom in 1984? Sounds odd to me.

Did Suzanne Pleshette really do a self-titled sitcom in 1984? Sounds odd to me.

TV Guide says it was originally titled "Suzanne Pleshette is Maggie Briggs." It was canceled after six episodes.

This was back when CBS carried the NFC games and NBC the AFC games.

From what i remember, NBC switched to the Chargers-Chiefs game after the Steelers-Bills game. So Secret Service might have aired in it's entirety after the Chargers-Chiefs game. So the late night times might be inaccurate.

I cannot find any information whatsoever on the 9PM movie on WNEU, so I went to the source. I guess it was called 'Kemek' and starred a German actor named Helmuth Schneider in one of the last roles before his death. Sort of odd that a station that aired the equivalent to HSN all day would actually show a movie at night. In looking at the source, I have to appreciate how hard it is to translate those grids into a post on here. Nice of you to do this, south-ferretti!

Yeah, it's really hard, particularly for me because I don't know the names of all the shows.

For a time WNEU was running a lot of foreign movies.

Somewhere at home I have a VHS tape on which I recorded a film from Czechoslovakia off the air from WNEU. I was curious because films from Eastern Europe were extremely rare on TV back then.

At this time, WKPC was a separately owned PBS member and not part of the KET network.

I notice Ch. 15 was airing Dark Shadows at 11 p.m.

Did WTBS actually air OTA here or did they just include it for cable subscribers, I wonder? This must've been Thanksgiving Day as NFL Football didn't routinely air on Thursday's then.

No, Thanksgiving was the following Thursday (11/27). This was a special Thursday edition of Monday Night Football.

When did WRGB do local news at 6:30pm once again? Because I know they did do hour long news at 6pm and they still do, but I didn't know they had a break on not doing that.

I don't know when, but by 2001 they still have 30 minutes of news at 6PM. I agree that stations should have a 6PM hour devoted to local news.

Here I found something interesting for you.

<https://www.bizjournals.com/albany/s...17/story8.html>

This article says that WRGB stopped airing news at 6:30PM on Monday, March 31, 1997.

Invasion America had a lot of star power behind it, yet didn't do very well.

Fun fact: For years, General Hospital did not air in Dayton, including the peak Luke and Laura years.

It was mainly due to the presence of WKRC, and later WCPO on cable... and WSYX over the air. WCPO is no longer carried on cable systems in the Dayton area after an agreement between Scripps, Sunrise (WDTN's owners at the time) and Time Warner in 2000.

You would normally think the Dayton station would clear the most popular network soap, however, rather than having people watch it from out of town. I think the roots of that were when WKEF was still ABC and Clubhouse 22 was in that spot. For whatever reason WDTN chose to stay with syndication in that hour when they picked up the ABC affiliation. From this schedule they were skipping One Life to Live.

I had read it was a contractual thing with ABC that WDTN wasn't required to air soap operas after 2pm. I thought it was odd they cleared low rated Loving and The City, but yet didn't GH, the top ABC soap.

It was mainly due to the presence of WKRC, and later WCPO on cable... and WSYX over the air. WCPO is no longer carried on cable systems in the Dayton area after an agreement between Scripps, Sunrise (WDTN's owners at the time) and Time Warner in 2000.

With an external antenna, I bet WCPO could still be received OTA in most of Dayton

17 WTBS Ind Atlanta (anyone knows why TBS scheduled its programming to start at :05 or 35 past the hour?)

Turner Time

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/TBS_\(U...I\)#Turner_Time#Turner_Time)

On June 29, 1981, TBS (as SuperStation WTBS) began to use an off-time scheduling format for its programming known as "Turner Time." [29] While program offerings on other broadcast and basic cable channels generally began at the top and bottom (:00 and :30 minutes) of each hour, TBS decided to begin airing programs five minutes later, at :05 and :35 minutes past the hour. Programs seen on TBS were listed under their own time entry in TV Guide, during the period in which the magazine published log listings, as a result of this scheduling, thus enabling the program listings to catch potential viewers' eyes more readily. The use of "Turner Time" also encouraged channel surfers who could not find anything interesting to watch at the top of the hour to still be able to watch a program on TBS without missing the first few minutes. Most importantly, since shows ended five minutes later than normal, from a strategic standpoint the off-time scheduling usually encouraged viewers to continue watching TBS rather than turning to another channel to watch a program that would already be airing in progress.

Thanks for the answer!

Smart strategy for TBS to develop at the time. They no longer do it but it was clever back then.

TBS was unique using the :05 and :35 start times to stand out.

This market offered Rush Limbaugh's syndicated TV show one of its best timeslots at 11:30AM. He often aired in the very early morning hours or very late night in other markets. He managed very good numbers despite that, but likely would've done even better had he had more slots like this market.

WQEX, Ch. 16 would be knocked off the air later that year when its transmitter was destroyed in a tornado.

Charles In Charge was still in its initial network run, before later returning as a first run syndicated series. Trivia Trap was nearing its single season in the morning. That BJ/Lobo syndication package was an innovative idea. Combine two shows, neither of which on its own had enough episodes for syndication into a single package so it could be sold. Probably did all right for the studio.

I like the early morning lineup from this time.....This Morning's Business at 5, Limbaugh at 5:30 and First Business at 6. Would've been great to wake up to!

It always bugged me that WUAB, channel 43 from Lorain, Ohio, was in the listings beside all of the local channels. It was on most cable systems around here, but over the air you had no shot of getting their signal here.

I accidentally typed Ricki Lake on ch. 2 at 8:30AM, but Bonkers aired in that timeslot.

No way Barney & Friends wasn't on Channel 53 at that time, must have been a typo

They had Fox Clubhouse maybe in that slot but NOT Barney & Friends. That was PBS exclusive. You are right NO WAY did WPGH ever have Barney. The only Barney ever airing on WPGH was Fred Flintstone's sidekick Barney Rubble at some point.

I checked the listings and Garfield and Friends was airing on 53 at 7:30am, not Barney.

Unusual that the Columbus stations were listed and not the much closer Cincinnati stations (unless this paper was actually out of Springfield)

Just a guess....even though Cox produces the Springfield News Sun, much of the content was duplicated from the Dayton Daily News and I can imagine the same TV listings ran in all of their regional papers. Columbus was carried on cable in Springfield and other parts of Clark and Eastern Greene Counties.

Believe it or not, Columbus is able to be received OTA in much of the Dayton market.

Even since the digital transition?

Yes. Paramount moved WWHO's transmitter from Chillicothe to Williamsport which is SE of Dayton, in order to reach the Dayton and Columbus markets. Dayton didn't have an OTA UPN affiliate (the UPN affiliate was on cable, run out of WHIO-TV) and Paramount wanted to target Dayton-area viewers with WWHO.

I don't remember ever seeing that station on cable when I lived there.

It was channel 44 on Time Warner Cable, later channel 17. It was branded "UPN 44" and later "UPN 17-6."

WSYX and WBNS are still on cable in Springfield

Retro: Central Iowa, February 9-15, 1951

Imagine an entire publication, similar to TV Guide, devoted to the listings of just one station. That was the case with Tele-Views Central Iowa edition in 1951. You can see what's on channel 4, WOI-TV for the 2nd week of February, 1951 courtesy of DesMoinesBroadcasting.com

And the letters to the editor! "Evelyn" wanted to know Kate Smith's marital status! "Mrs. Walt" (remember when married women used to refer to themselves using their husbands' names?) wanted to know how the Gagne-Thesz wrestling match in Chicago turned out! Great stuff!

Was this a publication put out by WOI itself, the Des Moines Register or some independent publisher? I see that WOI was indeed Des Moines' only TV station in 1951 (competition wouldn't arrive for another three years), so whoever put out "Tele-Views" had lots of space to fill with features.

The address to subscribe is in Davenport, and it says it's "Midwest's finest weekly program-fan magazine" so it must have been in more markets than Des Moines, although I'm not sure how many stations operated in 1951. Most of them came on in 1953.

You could subscribe for $5 per year and also received a FREE filter for your TV that reduced cloudiness, softened the glare, and fit all screens!

I'm assuming with the Davenport mailing address that Tele-Views had a Quad-Cities (they might have been just using Tri-Cities in 1951) edition, which had listings for ch. 4 WHBF across the river in Rock Island and ch. 5 WOC-TV Davenport.

But you're right, there weren't many stations available in Iowa pre-1953, just the two above, WOI-TV in central Iowa, and channels 3 and 6 from Omaha.

And here's your test pattern! (WOI would use the same pattern right up through the early 70s, updated to channel 5 and Iowa State University by then)

Found a bit of info on Tele-News. It was apparently based in the Quad Cities, started in January of 1951, and in June of 1952, became Mid-States Edition TV-Forecast, which was based in Chicago.

Actually, this edition was from Feb. 9-15, 1952. (The giveaway to me was the mention of "Search for Tomorrow" on the WOI schedule, which began its 35-year run Sept. 3, 1951 (1951-Mar. 1982 on CBS, Mar. 1982-Dec. 26, 1986 on NBC with low affiliate clearances).

Why is Ryan's Hope listed twice on WWSB 40?

I checked the listings and Loving aired at 12:30, not Ryan's Hope. Sorry about that.

Did WTSP 10 have Loving at 12:30 too or Ryan's Hope?

'Our World' was a really good show given the worst spot in TV....opposite 'The Cosby Show'. Too bad, it was quite the effort. Linda Ellerbee was one of the hosts.

The short lived 'USA Today' syndicated show was on then and INN News, perhaps intentionally, had changed the name of its newscast to USA Tonight. It would end its long run in 1990. Arsenio Hall had just started his show, which really made clear there was room for a second late night talk show and paved the way for CBS to pick up Letterman some four years later.

As the World Turns was a major soap in the 1980s, I can't imagine childhood without it or any of the CBS shows and it's very odd to see that KDKA 2 in Pittsburgh didn't even show it! They had B&B at 2:30pm with a local show at 1:30pm and before that Capitol at 1:30pm and their local show at 2pm. I'm very surprised they wouldn't show ATWT at 10am at least (or their local show at that time) pre-empting the game shows as many CBS affiliates did with the 10am hour. I can't believe this area missed out.

A lot of the Pittsburgh area could pick-up WTRF in Wheeling, as well as the other CBS affiliates in Altoona (to east), Youngstown (to west), and probably from a distance Cleveland (with WJW back then). Perhaps that's was also why the Pittsburgh indies didn't pick-up whatever CBS shows KDKA didn't clear.

12:00 Rush Limbaugh
12:30 It's Showtime at the Apollo

This is a very odd scheduling move, even for back then.

Arsenio's show wasn't political, at least not overly so. I know he hosted then candidate Clinton the prior year, but it was still more of an entertainment focused show. Looks to me like the station was just allotting slots to its syndicated programs as best it could.

'Promise Her Anything.' (1965) Michele O'Brien (Leslie Caron) recently lost her husband, so she moves, along with her infant son, from her suburban home to a New York City apartment. After contemplating her son's fatherless future, she decides to remarry and thinks her boss, child psychologist Philip Brock (Bob Cummings), would be a perfect mate. While she pursues Philip, she develops a love-hate relationship with her upstairs neighbor, an amateur porn director (Warren Beatty) who harbors a crush of his own.

'To Hell and Back.' (1955) Young Audie Murphy's (playing himself) father abandons his large family, and Audie becomes the main breadwinner. When World War II breaks out, Murphy wants to enlist, but looks too young and small to make a good fighter. Nevertheless admitted as an infantryman by the Army, Murphy proves a courageous soldier. The film, based on Murphy's life, reenacts his many battles, including the ultimate feat that earned him a Congressional Medal of Honor: single-handedly turning back a German attack.

WOKR had the rights to the syndicated Feud. Wasn't uncommon for syndicated Feud to air on non-CBS stations. Here in Yakima we watched it on KNDO (NBC) and I think K68EB (Fox) for a while; in Seattle it was on KOMO (ABC).

That's WUHF for Ch. 31, not WHUF.

Here in the Atlanta market, WAGA (then CBS) blacked out the daytime show but carried the nighttime show.

At least one station had Insight, though it looks like This Is The Life was more popular up in the eastern parts of the state and the Carolinas. I don't think we had This Is the Life in Memphis, at least not in my growing up days. Next Step Beyond seems like an odd choice for post religious programming on Sundays (WSOC, Charlotte).

Was Sunday a special night for The Ropers? I remember it being on Tuesdays originally, and I think it moved to Saturdays for the second season, where it crashed and burned.

I remember The Associates. Martin Short. I actually remember the night it premiered. It was followed by a special 3 hour presentation of the ABC Sunday Night Movie, S.O.S. Titanic. 35 years ago this month. Unbelievable.

It was a special timeslot for "The Ropers." The 8:30 show on ABC that fall was "The Associates," a sitcom set in a law firm. It, too, went belly-up fairly quickly, as CBS's lineup steamrolled the competition that year (that was the year "60 Minutes" hit number one).

That was the year ABC decided to 'fix' everything that wasn't broken; "Mork and Mindy" moved to 8 on Sundays...briefly, and even "Laverne and Shirley" got shifted to Thursdays(later, Mondays), before each show returned to its original timeslot.

Which was probably one, although not the only, factor in ABC's losing the ratings race (and its number-one position) to CBS that season. CBS also had arguably the three hottest shows on the air at the time: "60 Minutes," "Dallas," and "The Dukes Of Hazzard."

Another show that got moved was "Fantasy Island," from Saturday to Friday; it took only a few weeks for ABC to move it back.

If NBC switched to the Browns-Jets game after the Raiders-Rams game, then Disney and the movie aired in full, then Prime Time Sunday was preempted.

The NBC stations going local rather than NFL 79, except for WCNC? seems to me that was common practice , since the NFL Today was more popular.

Sort of an odd time in the TV year. Summer reruns had run their course, but the new season shows hadn't yet started, so there were specials in primetime this week. Channel 69 was still a true independent something very rare today.

Surprised that the Private Benjamin TV show was syndicated at all since it only lasted one season.

It was syndicated mainly because there were so few hit sitcoms in the early 80s, according to Broadcasting magazine. Remember, before "Cosby Show" hit huge in 1984 there was lots of talk the sitcom was dying. "Private Benjamin" lasted 39 episodes; "Bosom Buddies" got syndicated the same time even though it had only 37 episodes.

I think Bosom Buddies benefitted as Tom Hanks star rose. I remember it airing again on network TV in the summer of '84 as a summer fill in. Private Benjamin had no such star power, but the explanation does make sense.

I used to watch Private Benjamin when I was 7 living in NYC. What channel in NY carried that program. And I noticed Fox isn't listed in this listings.

both 43 & 56 were charter FOX affiliates but in 1988 they only had "late night" and weekend programming. They added Mondays at the start of the 1989 season

43 <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/WTNZ>

56 <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/WDKY-TV>

so in 1988 they were basically a glorified Indy....kinda like My Network affiliates are edit: 39 was a FOX affiliate as of 1987

I think Bosom Buddies benefitted as Tom Hanks star rose. I remember it airing again on network TV in the summer of '84 as a summer fill in. Private Benjamin had no such star power, but the explanation does make sense.

The only real benefit, if any, the Private Benjamin series had was that two of the actors/actresses from the movie reprised their roles for the TV version (Eileen Brennan and Hal Williams). Speaking of both shows, around the time of these listings, KTLA in Los Angeles was running both of these series in early fringe, but if I remember right, it was part of a rotation of sitcoms they ran a different night at 7/7:30pm.

It seems that Indianapolis, was on Central Time, when did that change? As of now they show all their shows on Eastern Time, while all the others stations in the state show their newscast on Central Time. It so weird how they were on a time change v. today.

Not on Central time, but Eastern Standard year round. By not observing Daylight Savings time, Indpls clocks matched NYC during the winter and Chicago during the summer. Caused quite a bit of confusion but the farmers and drive in theater owners of the Hoosier state loved it.

Sidebar: this would have been the first May that channel 6 operated under the WRTV call letters. Note the Janet Langhart special on channel 8. This was just prior to Ms. Langhart moving to a long career in Boston. And note Star Trek airing ahead of Tonight on channel 13. Noteworthy because the techs at 13 developed a way to give the appearance that each night the Eyewitness News team beamed up to the Enterprise. Cool stuff for a Trekker in 1970s Indianapolis.

Starting in the mid 80s, Indianapolis and Lafayette stations began delaying their programming during the months the other states were on DST. WTHR was first when they were able to latch onto a Mountain Daylight Time feed which matched up to an 8-11 CDT/EST prime time. The others followed. I was involved in the tape delaying in Lafayette. Eventually Indiana joined most other states in observing DST.

I received channels in the Terre Haute market and they finally adopted the 8-11pm primetime in the mid to late 90s. The Illinois viewers (like me) were affected by having programming now delayed half the year.

Although most of the north half of the Terre Haute market on the Illinois side of the border is still within close range of Champaign/Decatur stations. Particularly WCIA-3 (CBS) Champaign plus WAND-17 Decatur (formerly ABC, has been NBC since Sept. 2005) and WICD-15 Champaign (switched networks with WAND Sept. 2005 as well). So I wonder if the TH stations lost viewers in Illinois when they made the 8-11 primetime switch in favor of Champaign/Decatur affiliates.

I doubt the TH stations were dependent on their Northwest Illinois counties for much viewership or revenue. Not many folks live that way, except for Eastern Illinois college in Mattoon. Which is closer to Champaign/Decatur than Terre Haute/Farmersburg.

I figure that's the towers ended up being built 10 miles south of Terre Haute in Farmersburg - to be closer to the second largest city in that market, Vincennes (IN).

Same with Fort Wayne and South Bend and their Ohio and Michigan counties (it's the midnight news!). I'm sure like Terre Haute's Illinois counties, if you got more than one market's signals, you could do some interesting time shifting.

Take a trip to Laughlin NV/Bullhead City AZ during the winter. This time of year, Nevada is on PST, while Arizona is on MST. Every time you cross the Colorado River, the time changes. And with Phoenix and Las Vegas translators available, prime time is really messed up. It really is like the old "fast time/slow time" situation that Indiana had years ago.

We had WCIA on cable in the area I remember so that gave viewers that option. Back at this time, we were lucky enough to have distant networks from New York and LA on Directv, so we had the normal 7-10pm primetime on those channels and weren't affected.

I thought at one time several years back that Vincennes, IN (Knox County) was actually part of the Evansville, IN market. Does anyone know if Effingham was in the Terre Haute Market at one time? I know today they are Champaign, but Terre Haute stations always cover Effingham too.

The Terre Haute market's counties have been the same for 20 years, at least. It's a long haul from the Evansville TV market's transmission sites in Henderson, KY, to Vincennes - roughly 60 miles, compared to 40 for the Terre Haute stations. Both markets' stations were carried on Charter

Cable in Knox County before syndex rules.

But in the 70s, before WTHI-TV built its transmission site in Farmersburg, and before WBAK/38 signed on, I don't know how the market was defined. It's pretty likely that WTVW/7 out of Evansville was the de-facto ABC station for Knox county, being much too far for reliable coverage from WLWI/13 (and later WRTV/6) Indianapolis and Champaign.

Seems to me the one time I spent a night in Terre Haute the hotel cable system carried WXIN and WRTV. There are ways to get signals to head-ends other than OTA; microwave relays or fiberoptics. I could be remembering incorrectly.

WTVW and WNIN (also the two Evansville stations that were analog VHF) are still on cable in Vincennes

Same with Fort Wayne and South Bend and their Ohio and Michigan counties (it's the midnight news!).

It's been a few years since I was there and perhaps this has since changed but "the opposite" of that is Mountain Time Zone Rapid City SD. Most stations are state wide and fed from Central Time Zone Sioux Falls. End result, the late news in Rapid City airs at 9pm, with the late night talkers airing at 9:35pm.

But remember that prior to 38, both 2 and 10 were secondary affiliates to ABC airing what little might have been the best of that network in place of weaker programming on their primary affiliations.

The only station that does is CBS as KCLO is a satellite of KELO Sioux Falls. The other nets are owned by different companies than what is in Sioux Falls

Dickinson, ND is the one that has this happen on all the stations due to the "mothership" stations being in Bismarck which is in Central Time Zone. Most of the Dickinson stations are just semi-satellites (different ads and some different news stories) so for the Big 4 & PBS prime time starts at 6pm (PBS is state wide in NoDak)

Same in NE Montana (which is in the Bismarck-Minot et al market but also is MTZ). Didn't KXGN (Glendive MT) run primetime from 6 to 9 at one point?

The only station that does is CBS as KCLO is a satellite of KELO Sioux Falls.

Again, it was 2005 when we were through there. Weren't all the big 4 that way at one time? Or perhaps I am thinking of Dickinson.

Didn't KXGN (Glendive MT) run primetime from 6 to 9 at one point?

Glendive still runs primetime from 6-9. Before 2009 they ran CBS from 6-9 then "the best of NBC" from 9-10 as a dual affiliation. After 2009 when they went digital they added a NBC subchannel (basically KULR Billings but local ads) but still kept 6-9 primetime on CBS. They also run TPIR at 9, Deal at 10 (usually its flipped with Deal first)

Ironic twist is cable still has KUMV from Williston as a 2nd NBC (KUMV had a translator in Glendive til 2009) and due to Glendive being Mountain time you can see Fallon at 9:35 on KUMV or 10:35 on KXGN-DT2

Again, it was 2005 when we were through there. Weren't all the big 4 that way at one time? Or perhaps I am thinking of Dickinson.

you must be thinking of Dickinson

I know KOTA (ABC) was owned by the Duhamel Family until 2013 when they sold to Schurz (and now Gray). Ironic twist is both KOTA and KSFY Sioux Falls are now owned by Gray

Looking at wiki the only stations that are "combined" for both markets are CBS and PBS.

3n 6 Wild, Wild West C

Murderous interference plagues West and Artemus as they escort a Russian prince and his royal caravan to New Petersburg. Pretenders to the throne menace the prince as he seeks to reclaim a spiritually symbolic royal icon. West: Robert Conrad. Artemus: Ross Martin. Prince Gregor: Guy Stockwell.

8 Movie C

'Stage Struck.' (1957) A young girl, determined to become a famous actress, comes to New York. Directed by Sidney Lumet. Henry Fonda, Susan Strasberg.

10 12 NBC News Special C

'The First Americans.' Some 20,000 years ago, early man crossed the Bering Land Bridge from Siberia and peopled the Western Hemisphere: fathering the great Indian nations of the Americas. Hugh Downs hosts this expedition-a look back at the first Americans. Cameras focus on key archaeological sites. Dr. A.P. Okladnikov of the Soviet Academy of Science shows the remains in Russian Siberia, of a house built of mammoths' bones, and tells how the people managed to hunt and survive the cold. At Onion Portage, Alaska, the present-day Eskimo is traced back to the first Mongoloid groups in the area. At Nikolski, a village inhabited for more than 10,000 years, simple tools and artifacts have been uncovered that are almost identical to their modern counterparts. In Eastern Washington, human skeletal material more than 11,000 years old has been found, at Marmes Man Rockshelter. Dr. Roald Fryxell of Washington State University discusses the site; flint-knapper Don Crabtree shows how he uses ancient skills to duplicate the flint tools of early man. In Murray Springs, AZ; SMU geologist Vance Haynes discusses Clovis Man (12,000 years old) and displays his findings. Also: Hugh Downs visits other excavations in Venezuela, Peru and Chile. This is the first of an occasional series, with upcoming subjects including aggression, Eskimos, earthquakes and the human mind.

[The High Chaparral will not be seen.]

23 Book Beat C

Ralph Martin talks about 'Jennie,' his biography of Winston Churchill's mother Jeanette Jerome. Topics include the American-born Jeanette as the woman behind the man, her husband Lord Randolph; Jennie's career as a campaigner for social progress; and her talents as a pianist and horsewoman. Host: Robert Cromie.

10 12 Name of the Game C

Honor Blackman, Maurice Evans and Brian Bedford head the predominantly British cast in 'An Agent of the Plaintiff.' The drama pits publisher Glenn Howard against libel action and a lovely London solicitor. Howard's London bureau is a codefendant in a case that smacks of conspiracy between the plaintiff and his charming counsel-who uses people as cynically as she manufactures evidence. Howard: Gene Barry.

15 Victory at Sea

'Suicide for Glory.' After the Allied conquest of Okinawa, the Japanese launched the largest suicide offensive in history. Kamikaze planes are seen crash-landing on Allied ships. Incidental music by Richard Rodgers. Leonard Graves narrates.

23 Film C

Films survey efforts to alleviate causes of world hunger.

9PM

3h 13 Let's Make a Deal C

3n 6 Movie

'Stalag 17.' (1953) William Holden won an Oscar for his acting in Billy Wilder's film about American POWs in a German prison camp. There's an informer in Barracks 4, and the prisoners put the finger on Sefton-a profiteering loner. Based on the Broadway hit. Don Taylor, Robert Strauss.

15 NET Playhouse

'A Passage to India.' India's Santha Rama Rau based this drama on E.M. Forster's memorable novel. Set in India during the 1920s, the play examines a relationship that is threatened by blind racial hatreds. Virginia Mc Kenna of 'Born Free' plays a leading role. Sybil Thorndike.

23 French Chef

Julia Child demonstrates two methods of stewing beef.

9:30

3h 8 13 Guns of Will Sonnett C

Will and Jeff take a turn on stage to put the lie to a play titled 'The Man Who Killed Jim Sonnett.'
Will: Walter Brennan. Jeff: Dack Rambo.

23 City Makers C

Tentatively scheduled: an interview with New York Mayor John V. Lindsay. Expected topics include the headline-making Ocean Hill-Brownsville school dispute, and the issue of whether any mayor can effectively counter the tangle of administrative headaches and social ills that plague New York.

10PM

3h 8 13 Judd C

Ben represents emotionally strained Don Townsend to prevent his divorced wife from taking their child to Europe. Complicating the case: Townsend has accidentally killed his former brother-in-law. Stephen Young, Jack McMartin.

I wonder how 3n and 3h worked? Did sets come with channels labeled as that?

Not a lot of channels in this area, and no independents. Still, a morning movie, and afternoon movie with Gomer Pyle and Let's Make a Deal in primetime. Not a bad selection of programming!

The reason that they used 3N and 3H was to distinguish these stations since they shared the channel number.

One example of this is Channel 4 (WOAI) and Channel 5 (KENS) in San Antonio sharing channel numbers with those in Harlingen (KGBT) shown in TV Guide as 4H and Weslaco (KRGV) listed as 5W and also Channel 6 (KRIS) in Corpus Christi with KCEN (Temple-Waco) listed as 6T.

Black with white number was WTAR. White with black number was WSVA. I list them as 'H' and 'N' because it's easier.

If they shared the same channel, could viewers even pick one up? Wouldn't they interfere with each other?

Penn State at Miami. Both the Nittany Lions and the Hurricane opened their seasons with big victories. PSU clubbed a highly-ranked Arizona team 41-7 and the 'Canes upset Ohio State 23-12. The Lions have one of the Nation's top defensive units, with LBs LaVar Arrington and Brandon Short and DE Courtney Brown among the top players at their positions. Miami counters with a balanced offensive attack featuring RB James Jackson, QB Kenny Kelly and WR Santana Moss. Penn State has won six of 11 meetings with Miami, including a 14-10 Fiesta Bowl victory on 1/2/1987 for the national championship. This is the teams' first meeting since 1992.

4 Miss America Pageant

Donny and Marie Osmond host the 79th annual gala from Atlantic City's Convention Hall. 'We're trying to change with times,' says producer-director Jeff Margolis, 'and still keep the integrity of what Miss America is all about.' Some of the innovations include a new order and scoring system for the talent competition, more time for the up close and personal segments ('a home run for us last year,' says Margolis) and an earlier start time. There is also a music video by 98 Degrees that features all 51 contestants. One thing that hasn't changed, though, is the crowning of this year's winner by the reigning queen, Miss America 1999 Nicole Johnson.

Hey crainbebo,

can you also post...

"Retro: Western Washington, Sun. September 19th, 1999"

and

"Retro: Western Washington, Mon. September 20th, 1999"

Whenever I can, which won't be this week or next week. I usually don't get TVGs from this late in the decade, I usually buy pre-1995 issues. I almost never buy post-2000 TVGs because of how they sliced and diced all the listings up, and completely took out late night listings and channel guides.

I was checking the listings for the SF stations here:

<https://news.google.com/newspapers?n...rontpage&hl=es>

Entertainment Tonight aired on KRON weeknights at 7:30pm back then.

So I wonder who had ET at 11:30 in northern California? This TVG was so confusing at times.

KPIX brought CBS News to Medford as neither KOB/KOTI nor KTVL aired it (Medford didn't have a primary CBS at the time)

They must not have had room to print both KTVU and KPIX's call letters on the page. It really is much more of a KPIX program guide. 'Captain Kangaroo'(it was actually 'Wake Up With The Captain' by then), 'Alice', and 'People Are Talking' were all on KPIX(surprisingly in 'Alice's case, but very soon after, CBS replaced those reruns with the revived '$25,000 Pyramid', while KPIX moved 'Hour Magazine' into that slot.)

The even bigger surprise here is that a lot of the afternoon programming comes not from either KPIX or KTVU, but rather from San Francisco independent KBHK 44! After 'Big Valley'(which really did air on KTVU), the noon news was KPIX, and the sitcoms airing from 12:30 up to 2:30 came from 44.

Back to KPIX for 'Hour Magazine', then 'Gilligan's Island' at 4 aired on 2, and the next few shows, from 'John Davidson' to the 6 o'clock news are KPIX, and, as you noted, so are the CBS news and 'Evening Magazine'. The 8 o'clock and midnight movies were a KTVU tradition, and the 11 o'clock news was KPIX. (KTVU had Giants games back then, and I believe those have been televised to Medford for many years).

As for 'Entertainment Tonight'...I only remember it airing on KRON in the early days, and KGO much later(I think it did air on KPIX around 20 years ago...God, it's been on longer than forever!). But if they could pipe in KBHK and the newspaper didn't credit it, the same might be true for 'Entertainment Tonight'.

Too bad TVG was so confusing and didn't just print something like 'SF-M' for San Francisco microwave feeds, or just print separate listings for KTVU, KPIX and KBHK. The cable feeds were cherry-picking different SF stations. I wonder if they were able to PRE-RECORD KRON's feed and play it late at night for Entertainment Tonight? Hmmm??

Remember, People Are Talking was the reason why TPIR was dumped to KTZO/KOFY for years and years.

I think everything on 'KTXL' was correct. TV40 Sacramento was seen on some cable operators in southern Oregon, Nevada, etc.

So, you're posting a schedule for a future date...that's odd in all of the years this particular board has been around.

It is interesting today how local stations start their morning newscasts as early as 4:00 or 4:30am. I'd like to know if many viewers are really watching then. I know many jobs work overnight and some really early, but that still doesn't mean they are turning their TVs on for news at that time.

Among candid stunts: Judy Carne poses as a doctor whose patients react strangely to physical examination.

7 8 American Film Institute Salute to Orson Welles

Special: Orson Welles receives the American Film Institute's Life Achievement Award. In 1941, Welles produced, directed, co-authored and starred in 'Citizen Kane,' a feat that won the precocious 26-year-old the title of Hollywood's enfant terrible. Some 40 films later, Welles remains a dominant figure in the industry. Highlighting the program are clips from some of Welles' best films, including 'Citizen Kane,' 'The Magnificent Ambersons,' 'Othello' and 'Falstaff: Chimes at Midnight.' At press time, celebrities scheduled to honor Welles include host Frank Sinatra, Charlton Heston, Ingrid Bergman, Edgar Bergen (with Charlie McCarthy), Joseph Cotten, Janet Leigh and Dennis Weaver.

9 Romantic Rebellion

What host Kenneth Clark calls 'a sensual violence' reveals itself in the art of Theodore Gericault (1791-1824). Clark traces the influences shaping Gericault's tragically brief career and explores his view of nature as a destructive and uncontrollable force.

Just like with ABC World News This Morning on KTVX, KUTV was running that morning's NBC News at Sunrise back-to-back.

I know with ABC, they allowed local inserts within the WNTM newscast; I'm not sure if NBC allowed that for their stations carrying News at Sunrise.

Re: Retro: Los Angeles o&os Friday, November 22, 1963

Here's a question for someone:

I notice on these listings, and the ones for Denver as well, NBC and CBS are listed with five minute newscasts at various times throughout the day. I've also seen this on later year's listings. I assume these were network newscasts. I was too young to recall them. But these make perfect sense, as this was well before the age of cable news, and viewers depended on the big three (or in this case two) to provide tv news. I had no idea they were doing these throughout the day, though. When did this practice end? My guess it was before 1970, because after '70 or so I would have remembered them.

No. The longtime title of KNBC/KRCA's afternoon movie was "Frandsen's Feature." As best as I can recall, Movie 4 was never used.

Re: Retro: Los Angeles o&os Friday, November 22, 1963

The five-minute newscast began to disappear in the mid-'70s (ABC had abandoned its newscast in 1968). Around 1976 NBC switched to a one-minute update like the one it used at night, and ABC started doing "ABC Newsbrief" after either "All My Children" or "One Life To Live," I don't remember which. CBS stuck with Douglas Edwards' five-minute newscasts until 1980, when it began airing one-minute newsbreaks after "The Price Is Right" and "Guiding Light." Edwards continued to do the morning ones until his retirement in 1988; Dan Rather usually did the afternoon ones since they were largely a preview of that night's "CBS Evening News."

A popular feature on ABC that many of you may recall was "FYI," a one-minute general-information series with Hal Linden as host; that ran several times a day in the early '80s.

Frandsen's other show, called FYI was on KNBC in 1967-68, at 3:30, right before the movie. So I don't think he left KNBC for KHJ-TV until the late 60s. By that time, I'm pretty sure KNBC had started their re-vamped news (KNBC News Service) with a second hour at 5:00, which would have knocked out the movie, which in its last years, ran from 4:00 to 6:00. They probably plugged in syndicated programming from 4:00 to 5:00, though I don't remember for sure.

Anybody have a retro weekday LA schedule from 1968 or 69?

Several years ago I interviewed Hal Linden for my radio show. Of course he wanted to talk about Barney Miller and even his 80s bomb..Blacke's Magic. But when I asked him about that one minute show he did.."FYI", Hal denied it !!! Saying he had no idea what the hell I was talking about. He knew of no show called "FYI".

I remember "FYI" and actually thought it was good so I guess, Hal Linden thinks otherwise, enough so to erase it from memory. Kinda reminds me of the story some years back about the man & woman who did that advice show for kids .."Dear Alex and Annie". At the time neither one claimed to have done that on TV.

Well Hal can deny it all he wants, but here's a link to some information about that FYI...along with pictures. The FYI that Frandsen hosted was a half-hour show produced by KNBC - don't know if it was syndicated or just local in LA. If I remember correctly, it focused on consumer information - not unlike David Horowitz's later Fight Back! programs...though it's possible I'm confusing the two, since Horowitz also worked for KNBC. ???

I don't think it's so much active denial as the effect of a couple decades on the memory of something that was a very minor gig in Linden's long career. I don't know how many of those FYIs were done, but they were only a minute long, and likely filmed back-to-back in a matter of a day or two. I doubt if they required much preparation or effort on his part, and certainly little to no rehearsal.

You'd be surprised how much can be lost to the fog of memory in a busy career. I heard Alan Alda in a radio interview a few years ago (around the time that he began appearing on The West Wing), and in talking about M*A*S*H, he said that 2-3 decades after the fact, he would every so often catch a rerun on TV, and have no memory of doing the episode -- even in some cases, a show that he wrote and directed!

Oh, yes. People in a certain age bracket (uh...mine...50 plus) forget a lot of things, professional and personal. I recently re-connected with a long lost friend a couple of years ago. I told him that I was thrilled to see him for the first time in 35+ years. He looked a bit offended, and mentioned a week-long visit he made to my home about 20 years ago. Once he reminded me, I was able to dredge it up from the moth-eaten fringes of my memory banks. Otherwise, that memory was gone forever.

Re: Retro: Los Angeles o&os Friday, November 22, 1963

To get back to the issue at hand: I also noticed there was no late-afternoon movie on KABC-TV as of 1963. In what year would such a movie show have started (and I presume The Big Show title would have been used at the outset)?

As for what would have aired on KNBC before their mammoth Newservice as of the late 1960's: I have a 1970 L.A.-Metro edition of TV Guide where they ran The Mike Douglas Show. (In fact, I noticed that four out of the five NBC O&O's ran Mr. Douglas' daytime gabfest. The only exception: New York's WNBC-TV. In the Big Apple TMDS was aired on WOR-TV from 1965 to '68, then picked up by WCBS-TV in 1968.)

I seem to have read in Google News searches of Los Angeles Times references that by 1966, some of KNBC's movie shows bore the Movie 4 title. Definitely the Saturday night edition that (again, from what I saw) premiered on Sept. 17, 1966 (this seemed to be their equivalent of WNBC-TV's Saturday Film Festival that premiered that same day).

I wonder if Linden remembers the kids' show he did,
Animals, Animals, Animals, Sunday mornings on ABC 1976-81.

As for Mike Douglas I remember WRC carrying him in Washington in the '70s. And it would be a no-brainer that WKYC would carry him in Cleveland; his show started there in 1961 when it was still KYW.

That's why I said "four of the five NBC O&O's"; so did WMAQ in Chicago at one point. But in terms of KYW/WKYC - I seem to have read something on the Broadcast Pioneers of Philadelphia website to the effect that what became KYW-TV in 1965 in the City of Brotherly Love had aired Douglas' program as early as 1963 when the station was still NBC-owned WRCV-TV.

Funny how things get off topic....So to get even more off-topic, It's odd to me that so many NBC local affiliates were doing their newscasts in color and the network was not, as seen in the NBC 11/22/63 coverage between WBAP (Ft. Worth) and the network. Why do you suppose the first full color network did not have color newscast?

At the time, only the very well-off NBC affiliates were equipped for local LIVE color. News was pretty much a second-thought at the time, even at the O&O's. Since most of the NBC affiliates were not equipped for color, yet and since NBC still had quite a few black and white cameras left at 30 Rock, the NBC news department did not think color was a priority. However, that did change for the 1964 Conventions. NBC carried gavel-to-gavel coverage of the 1964 Conventions in color. Within a year or so after 11/22/63, NBC pushed for color for all of the affiliates. By 1966, ALL NBC affiliates were equipped for network color. All LOCAL color would still be a couple of years later. Also, make note during the NBC JFK coverage that the studio they used was rather dark. With the way it looked, the color cameras would not work very well in that dark setting. The WBAP feed was in color during the first few breaks from Dallas. But, eventually NBC requested WBAP to remove the color burst signal, which they did. Also, bandwidth for color on AT&T circuits was at a premium at the time. Getting a signal from Dallas to New York, never mind sending color, was a miracle considering they had to get that feed within a few minutes time at the time of assassination. This tragic event really changed the course of news programming.

Worth) and the network. Why do you suppose the first full color network did not have color newscast?

If you think about it, color really didn't come around until foxy Barbara Walters appeared on the "Today" show. ;D

Worth) and the network. Why do you suppose the first full color network did not have color newscast?

At the time, only the very well-off NBC affiliates were equipped for local LIVE color. News was pretty much a second-thought at the time, even at the O&O's. Since most of the NBC affiliates were not equipped for color, yet and since NBC still had quite a few black and white cameras left at 30 Rock, the NBC news department did not think color was a priority. However, that did change for the 1964 Conventions. NBC carried gavel-to-gavel coverage of the 1964 Conventions in color. Within a year or so after 11/22/63, NBC pushed for color for all of the affiliates. By 1966, ALL NBC affiliates were equipped for network color. All LOCAL color would still be a couple of years later. Also, make note during the NBC JFK coverage that the studio they used was rather dark. With the way it looked, the color cameras would not work very well in that dark setting. The WBAP feed was in color during the first few breaks from Dallas. But, eventually NBC requested WBAP to remove the color burst signal, which they did. Also, bandwidth for color on AT&T circuits was at a premium at the time. Getting a signal from Dallas to New York, never mind sending color, was a miracle considering they had to get that feed within a few minutes time at the time of assassination. This tragic event really changed the course of news programming.

As I've mentioned before, I also believe a lot of news programming at the network level was slow to convert to color because, really, color didn't do a whole lot to enhance the viewing experience of a talking head at a desk, as it did for a movie, variety show, game show, sporting event, etc. News was a much more somber, serious business in those days (unlike the circus it has become) and I think they were far more concerned about the content than about how pretty it looked.

The WBAP footage on 11/22/63 got better with each subsequent switch -- I think the initial gloominess of the set might have had more to do with lights and cameras not getting a full warmup in the haste to get on the air. The same can be seen on NBC when they first switched to David Brinkley in Washington -- the video on that first feed was murky and low in contrast. I figured under ideal non-emergency conditions they would have waited a bit longer, but felt it was important to get some reporting/reaction from the Nation's Capital as soon as possible.

Regarding the gloominess of sets - it reminded me that local news shows in this era in Los Angeles barely bothered with sets. Slap some sort of textured backdrop behind the anchors...maybe some sort of map-thing, then stick the anchor and reporters at a cheap Formica counter, and away you go. I recall reading some reporter's memoir of working for The Big News on KNXT in this era...and his description of the plain and dirty set with litter and cigarette butts all over the floor that the janitor never bothered to sweep up.

The first flashy news program I can remember was KTLA's in the mid 60s - KTLA was the first station in LA to adopt chroma-key technology a year or two ahead of the others; so you'd watch George Putnam standing on the set reading the news in his booming voice with the filmed action moving behind him. He'd introduce the story, the action would start behind him, then they'd slide his image to the right, and off the screen. Very dramatic.

Then things got flashier with "high-tech" looking sets in the late 60s and early 70s.

Just as NBC did later in the '60s, where the half-hour local hole (1 ET/12 CT) was not offered on the left coast feed, here the one-hour local slot was also blown off and the daytime programming went straight through.

While mornings (9-12 PT) were on Central zone clock schedule, afternoons (12-3 PT) were equivalent to Mountain zone clock time. As many of these shows still came out of NYC (some live, IIRC), Burbank had to do a one-hour delay for 12-3, unless it was a tape or film show already "in the house."

Save AM radio...kill I-CRAP.

Let us not forget a HUGE reason for not doing news in color -- it required using color film from the field, as well...Which took more money to process.

On the subject of performers not remembering something they did, Dick Cavett used to say that he would go home and watch the show he'd taped earlier that evening, and not remember what certain guests said. The reason, he said, was that he was concentrating on other things, like breaking for commercials at precisely the right time.

NBC did the one minute updates, at least before "Sale of The Century" and "Santa Barbara," but if i saw any other shows have the updates, i don't remember.

Why was it that KNXT didn't become KCBS until 1984? It just seems odd when the other stations had been KABC and KNBC for several years in LA and the New York station WCBS had those call letters since the 1940s.

The news broke at 10:30 a.m. Pacific Time about President Kennedy's shooting; by 11 a.m. Pacific Time, the L.A. TV stations were broadcasting the tragic news. There were contributions from the West Coast including a Requiem Mass in Los Angeles on CBS, and reaction from San Francisco on NBC.

I don't know what specific rule changed in the '80s to allow the use of the same call letters on stations with the same owner in different markets, but Channel 2 in Los Angeles went along with its radio predecessor, KNX-AM. KCBS, then and now, resided with the network O & O radio station in San Francisco.

That Tigers-Blue Jays matchup was part of a three game series that saw the Tigers win the AL East over the Blue Jays.

Before the season started, CBS changed up their Saturday morning line-up. They jettisoned Garbage Pail Kids (10:30 AM) after parents and watchdog groups got into a lather about it. They moved Mighty Mouse: The New Adventures from 8:30 to 10:30 and expanded Muppet Babies to 90 minutes at the 8:30 spot.

Lots of wrestling being shown that day

I see WLOS airing WWF Superstars of Wrestling rather than the Nebraska-Arizona State CFB game from ABC. Obviously, that only lasted one year, because viewers complained, and also the ratings must have been poor, and WLOS moved Superstars of Wrestling to midnight, after their newly acquired reruns of Night Court. The Ohio State-LSU game must have dominated the WWF that day.

Also, the Ohio State vs. Louisiana State game overlaps the Auburn vs. Tennessee game by one hour.

That Tigers-Blue Jays matchup was part of a three game series that saw the Tigers win the AL East over the Blue Jays.

I remember the Sunday game of that series, when Kirk Gibson hit a home run in the ninth inning to tie the game, NBC was showing a split screen of the St Louis-Chicago game. Made me mad. Vin Scully and Joe Garagiola were doing the Tigers-Blue Jays game while Jay Randolph and Tony Kubek did the St Louis-Chicago game.

No Des Moines stations in this "Iowa edition?" Was there another TVG edition that carried that market at the time? By then, their full Big Three of WOI-5, KRNT-8 (now KCCI) and WHO-13 had already all signed on.

2 4 13 LOVE STORY-JACK SMITH

This version of "Love Story" was actually a game show that premiered the previous Oct. 24, 1955:

http://gameshows.wikia.com/wiki/Love_Story

It would only be around 7 weeks and 1 day after this edition, with its last show Mar. 30, 1956. It would be replaced at 12:30 CT by some show called "As the World Turns."

Yeah, I was surprised to not see the Des Moines stations in here. Hello?? Iowa?? Yet the 'Iowa' edition listed them by 1963 according to Matt Sittel's website.

Maybe there was a Des Moines edition back in the 50s? Or Des Moines-Ft. Dodge-Ottumwa?

Sittel's site doesn't have anything about it, but he does list a Wichita edition in 1958 with only 6 stations so it's possible.

As big of a surprise as not seeing the central Iowa stations was seeing the two Rockford stations.

Perhaps people along the river, particularly Dubuque, were able to receive Rockford better than the Cedar Rapids-Waterloo stations. But a review of some of the yearbooks at AmericanRadioHistory.com show WREX 13 only at 46 kW ERP visual and WTVO 39 only at 195 kW ERP visual.

My guess is if Dubuque viewers were watching Rockford, there were a lot of 40 and 50 foot masts on top of houses.

It would have been interesting to compare KTVO's schedule with that of Des Moines' KRNT, as KTVO for many years depended on OTA reception from the Des Moines stations at Oskaloosa, which was microwaved to the Ottumwa studios.

Maybe the Iowa edition at that time was also mailed to subscribers in northwestern Illinois (e.g., Galena, Savanna, Sterling-Rock Falls). Including some areas that might have received fringe reception from Cedar Rapids-Waterloo.

When the Illinois-Wisconsin edition was created, I'm surprised that that edition didn't also include at least Quad Cities stations and maybe some Cedar Rapids-Waterloo to cover all of northern Illinois (unless areas of far NW IL within the Quad Cities DMA got Western Illinois edition with QC's, Peoria/Bloomington, Quincy, Springfield, Kirksville/Ottumwa, etc.).

My guess is if Dubuque viewers were watching Rockford, there were a lot of 40 and 50 foot masts on top of houses.

Dubuque may have had cable by 1956. They had one of the first cable tv systems in the country, since the reception in the city is poor.

First of all, congrats on lassoing "Radio Ranch" KCEG...as you probably know, comes out of the same xmtr plant as KJME, 890 Yesterday, probably the only all-Beatles station in the country.

One letter over from KC-E-G is KC-R-G, The Cedar Rapids Gazette station on channel 9, which on this day didn't sign on until 4:30 in the afternoon. I have no clue whether ABC offered a Saturday morning slate of programs. I know that even in 1958, KCRG-TV didn't sign-on until after 11 AM weekdays.

In February of 1956, KTVO channel 3 had been operating for less than three months, so I guess it isn't a surprise that they watching expenses where they could, as noted by their 11 AM sign-on.

6:30 PM on ABC channel 9, its the only regular network TV program that ever aired from Springfield MO, "Ozark Jubilee."

And at 8, on "ABC Television Network" it's Lawrence Welk LIVE, coast to coast. 8 Central, 6 Pacific, maybe that's where the custom of 6 PM for Welk developed in later years.

Retro Olympics: CBS' And TNT's Broadcast Schedules For The 1998 Winter Games In Nagano

Although it was less than a decade ago, the 1998 Winter Games in Nagano were the last Olympics, either Winter or Summer, not to have been covered by NBC (CBS had the honors).

In addition to CBS' coverage, the TNT cable network also broadcast coverage from Nagano.

Below are the CBS and TNT broadcast schedules for the 1998 Winter Olympics as published in a special section in the February 7th-13th, 1998 issue of TV Guide. All times were Eastern.

Friday, February 6th, 1998:

CBS: 8-11 P.M. (Live Broadcast of Opening Ceremonies)

Saturday, February 7th:

CBS: 4-6 P.M., 8-11 P.M., 11:35 P.M.-12:35 A.M.

TNT: 6-7 P.M.

Sunday, February 8th:

CBS: 3-6 P.M., 8-11 P.M., 11:35 P.M.-12:35 A.M.

TNT: 7-8 P.M.

Monday, February 9th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-1:35 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Tuesday, February 10th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11:30 P.M., 1:05-2:05 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Wednesday, February 11th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-1:35 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Thursday, February 12th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-3 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Friday, February 13th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-3 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Saturday, February 14th:

CBS: 2:30-6 P.M., 7-11 P.M., 11:35 P.M.-2 A.M.

TNT: 6-7 P.M.

Sunday, February 15th:

CBS: 4-6 P.M., 8-11 P.M., 11:35 P.M.-2 A.M.

TNT: 7-8 P.M.

Monday, February 16th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 1-6 P.M., 8-11:30 P.M., 1:05-2:05 A.M.

(there was no coverage on TNT that day)

Tuesday, February 17th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-3 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Wednesday, February 18th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-1:35 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Thursday, February 19th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11 P.M., 12:35-3 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Friday, February 20th:

CBS: 7-9 A.M., 8-11:30 P.M., 1:05-3:30 A.M.

TNT: 1-6 P.M.

Saturday, February 21st:

CBS: 1-6 P.M., 7-11 P.M., 11:35 P.M.-2 A.M.

TNT: 6-7 P.M. (this concluded TNT's coverage from Nagano)

Sunday, February 22nd:

CBS: 12 Noon-1 P.M., 3:30-6 P.M., 8-11 P.M. (the 8-11 P.M. broadcast was a tape of the Closing Ceremonies) and 11:35 P.M.-12:35 A.M.

Notes:

* Although there was a fourteen-hour time difference between Nagano and New York, some events (the Opening Ceremonies, the men's and women's downhill; ski races, some ski jumping and men's hockey games in late-night) were broadcast live.

* You may remember primetime host Jim Nantz sat in a specially-built anchor studio with a picture window built next to a Shinto temple; when the network showed Nantz in the anchor studio, the temple was just outside the window behind him making for a beautiful panorama.

* With the exception of Tuesday, February 17th (when the first-ever championship game in women's hockey was edited-down to fit the two-hour timeslot), CBS' weekday morning broadcast did not feature any Olympic competition, just features, interviews, and non-Olympic news headlines.

* You'll note that on weeknights, the CBS late-night coverage did not begin until 12:35 A.M. EST so that the David Letterman show could be shown in its entirety.

* On some nights, the CBS late-night show was an hour long, and on others, almost two-and-a-half hours long. On nights when it was an hour long, it was a feature-laden wrap-up of the day's events. On nights when it was (almost) two-and-a-half hours, it broadcast live coverage of a men's hockey game.

* While all the games of the U.S. men's hockey team (as well as a semifinal game, the consolation game and the championship game) were broadcast live by CBS, none of the women's hockey games (being contested for the first time) were broadcast live. A couple of games in the "round-robin" and the finals (as noted above) were shown on tape by CBS, while the other early-round U.S. women's hockey games were shown on tape by TNT.

* After considerable complaints from viewers about the "chopped-up" broadcast of the women's hockey championship, CBS eventually rebroadcast the game in full on the afternoon of February 22nd from 3:30-6 P.M. EST.

A number of major TV critics blasted CBS' coverage from Nagano, complaining there were too many "Up Close And Personal" features and not enough actual competition. In fact, during the Nagano Games, the Boston Globe timed one hour of CBS' prime-time coverage and found that there were only three minutes of actual competition. The rest of the hour was taken-up by commercial, "Up Close And Personal" features, and coverage of figure-skating practice!

Another bone of contention among TV critics was that CBS could have shown live, in prime-time, and not running over past 11 P.M. EST, the women's Super-G ski race in which America's Picabo Street won a gold medal. But instead, the network decided to air something else at the time and American viewers did not see Ms. Street's victory for almost 24 hours.

Although NBC's coverage of the 2002 Winter Olympics from Salt Lake City wasn't perfect, I thought overall, it was vastly superior to CBS' effort in Nagano.

And CBS carried the women hockey gold medal game in full on the last Saturday from 3:30-6 P.M. EST, after the network's coverage of the Cincinnati-South Carolina college basketball game. I believe CBS also carried the Michigan-Iowa game to some parts of the country; my recollection was that the game in Iowa City started at 12 P.M. EST while the game in Columbia started at 1 P.M. EST. I think that viewers in the south and in Ohio were sent to the Bearcats-Gamecocks game at halftime of the Hawkeyes-Wolverines game, with the rest of the network following suit once the game in Iowa City was over.

The European networks like ARD and ZDF or the Dutch NOS did better with almost 24 hours of Olympic games in 1998.

I'm sure that people in Buffalo, Detroit and Seattle were able to watch everything live off of the CBC/Radio-Canada feeds, since they carried all the action live!

I was wrong on the CBB game that preceded the women's hockey championship on the last Saturday; it was either Stanford @ Arizona or Kentucky @ South Carolina. I guess those games aired over a 2.5 hour window.

TNT didn't cover the games on Monday evening during the games because they aired WCW Monday Nitro (which earned them big ratings).
